T-Online contracts with Handan BroadInfoCom on development of set-top boxes for T-Online Vision

Darmstadt, 06 April 2004 - T-Online International AG has won the Handan company of Korea as a further partner for dissemination of the T-Online Vision services.

With the jointly developed set-top boxes, online services such as video-on-demand, a theme portal with the rubrics News, Sports and Entertainment, as well as WebMail can be used via the TV set. The units will be available in the entertainment electronics trade from Fall 2004.

Handan has been represented with set-top boxes and home entertainment products in the Asian region and especially on the fast-growing Chinese market since early 2002. The company has positioned itself as provider of economical digital receivers in the European television market from as early as 1998.

For T-Online, cooperation with Handan is a further step toward making its T-Online Vision services available via set-top boxes from a broad array of providers, and in various price segments.
